IDAHO CITY DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Another great Conflagration!—Idaho City again in Ashes!—Total Loss over $1,000,000.

[From the Idaho extra, May 17th.]

Just after noon this day, flames were seen issuing from the roof of John Cody's saloon, south west corner of Main and Wall streets. The alarm was given instantly. At the time it was sounded in our office we had just completed an article in which we referred to the fact that this would be the second anniversary of the great fire of May 18, 1865, which laid this city in ashes, and recommending to our citizens generally a greater degree of watchfulness during the day and night, to guard against a repetition of the calamity. The ink was not dry upon the paper when the alarm of fire rendered our office. Despite the exertions of hundreds of brave and vigorous workers, who rushed and labored to quench the fire, it spread on all sides, and by 5 o'clock P. M., the terrible consequences could be summed up in a general way—imperfect, to be sure, because of the brief time we have had to gather up particulars in—as follows:

Every building on both sides of Main street, from just below the Jenny Lind Theater to the saw mill of Taylor & Andrews on Moore's creek; all the buildings between Main and along the east side of Montgomery street, and most of those on the east of Main, on High street, embracing the Catholic Church, the many dwellings upon the hill below the west side of East Hill front—all save a few really fire proof bricks and cellars, are in ashes. Among the buildings saved we can now enumerate the following: Masonic Hall (in which is the World office) the stores of J. W. Wood & Co., C. J. Burnstiel, Andrews & Co., M. M. Chapman, the upper brick vaults of L. M. Cohn, and Fischner & Maydenbauer, and the cellars of Thos. Barry, C. S. Kingsley, C. T. Blake & Co., Powell & Co., Baird & Judge, Zapp & Longell and Vantine & Co.; McClintock & Stewart's stable, all the buildings on the west side of Montgomery street, and the residences of Sheriff Jas. I. Crutcher, J. H. Wickersham, F. W. Bell, George Ainslie, F. W. Britten, and Jas. O'Meara, on the front of East Hill, and the residence of P. B. Smith and a few others whose names we cannot now learn, at the foot of East Hill on High street.

These latter were saved through the labors of Mr. Smith, who brought his hydraulic mining hose to bear on them quickly, and the superhuman labors of his gang of men, who at once rushed from their work to stay the progress of the flames.

The flames spread with frightful velocity, owing to the high wind that prevailed, and, by singular misfortune, it was the nearest proximation to a gale we have had during a month. The fire, which commenced between twelve and one o'clock, had by three o'clock lain nearly the whole city in ashes, and swept into nothingness hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of property. We rejoice to be able to say that there has been no loss of life.

There are many others who have met with losses, but we cannot ascertain the facts now. Suffice it to say, that the best business part of Idaho City is destroyed. We are glad to say, however, that there is a universal sentiment among our people—the sufferers as well as the fortunate—to again build up our city, and this time in better security against the spread of fires which may occur.

Broader streets and no very high frame buildings will be the style of the new and resurrected and prosperous Idaho City—the liveliest city of the great mining interior.

SATURDAY, NOON, May 18.

Since our Extra of yesterday, we have been enabled to gather the following additional particulars:

The origin of the fire is involved in doubt. Mr. Cody assures us that there had been no fire in his saloon since midnight of Thursday. A gentleman who was among the first to rush to the fire, assures us that the flames issued from just at the frame partition which separated Cody's saloon from the building next door. There had been no fire used in the latter place since the preceding night.

The firemen and citizens generally rushed to the task of quenching the flames and preventing the fire from spreading, but though they worked with great vigor and bravery, their efforts were unavailing. Buckets of water, thrown in quick successions from a dozen hands upon the blazing roof, seemed of no more effect than so many drops. Soon the workers were driven from their places on the roofs of Donaho & Cruce's Bakery, adjoining Cody's on Wall street, from Kelly's and Wulff & Moore's adjoining on Main St., and from J. M. Cohn's store across Wall street, corner of Main. Hook and ladders were of no avail. The intense heat drove men at so great a distance from the burning or immediately endangered property, that execution with the apparatus was impossible.

And now commenced the panic. When the flames swept across Wall street to Cohn's on the south, hope was surrendered for the safety of the great portion of the city. It was simply then for all to turn from trying to save buildings, and to endeavor to save goods and moveable property. The fire sped—a wild, destroying, irresistible, unconquerable element—from its starting point up the west side of Main street, all the way up the whole block, to the Umatilla Market across Harris' alley to Enoch Peyton's, and thence away up to Bear Run, leaving nothing but devastation in its fiery path. Across from Wulf & Moore's the flames leaped up the frame buildings on the east side of Main street, and from Chipman's fire-proof brick clear to Bear Run on that side of the street, as on the other, every building was soon reduced to a mass of cinder and ashes.

From Cohn's on the south-west corner, and and from Vantine's on the south east corner of Wall and Main streets, all the way down to Moore's creek, embracing on both sides the whole are a from Wall to Commercial, thence to Wallula, and thence to the last building on this side of the creek, on Main street; the whole block bounded by Main, Commercial, Motgomery and Wall streets; that bounddd by Main, Wallula, Montgomery and Commercial; that below this latter extending to the creek; thon the long, full blocks between Main, Wall and Montgomery streets, and Harris' alley, and thence to Bear Run, be tween Main and Montgomery streets—from all this vast space, comprising the heart and business portion of the city, every frame building was totally swept, and the brick—supposed fire-proof, but not so, unfortunately—stores of B. P. Fitzgerald & Co., of Fleischman & Haynoyman, and of Isaacs Brus., utterly destroyed—the latter with every dollar's worth of goods in them.

The buildings, mostly residences, upon High street, and thence up the side of East Hill from Wall street to the saw mill of Taylor & Andrews on Moore's creek—which alone was saved—shared the same fate. Among these buildings was St. Joseph's Catholic Church, which had withstood the great fire of May 18th, two years ago. Great exertions were made by bands of intrepid men, who rushed to try to save the edifice, but fate had otherwise decreed, and its site is now marked by the blackened and charred ruins, and the tall lone chimney. Many of the dwellers in the residences along on the hill were given barely time to remove to places of safety a portion of their furniture, clothing and portable property, but their losses are yet to be ascertained in some cases very disastrous.

The block between Montgomery, Wall and Commercial streets, and Elk Creek, on which is the Masonic Hall, the World office, J. W. Wood & Co.'s store, the Court House, Atkin's drug store, and Bornstell's fire proof great merchandise vault, were saved from destruction by the demolition of the large Chinese building on the corner of Wall and Montgomery streets. Bands of brave, noble-hearted, gallant friends came to the aid of the Masonic Hall, of Wood & Co and the World establishment. We are requested by the Fraternity, by the Messrs. Woods, by Atkins, and others on the block—and most heartily and gratefully do the owners of the World join in—to return thanks and gratitude to the troops of devoted men, the zealous workers, who came to save, and did save all this property from the fire.

The whole west line of Montgomery street, from Bear Run to Moore's creek, was saved. Bornsteil's fire-proof brick was barely saved, but, like Wood & Co., he had taken the precaution to tear from it the temporary wood roofing. From the west side of Montgomery street, the whole length, all the way through to Elk creek, not a house was burned. The fire was kept from crossing the street by astonishing and successful efforts. Among the buildings burned on the east side of the street was the new Hook and Ladder Company's house, into which the apparatus had the day before been moved.

The heaviest losers are Fleischman & Heyneman, who had just got in a very heavy and valuable stock of goods from below. They had faith in their brick store, and thought it fire-proof. To use the words of Mr. Heyneman, they "did not save a five pence," they barely got away with the clothes they were upon their backs—no more from the store. A singular freak of the fire is to be seen in Clarney's fire-proof brick saloon. The pictures on the wall in the rear of the room are scorched and ruined, a billiard table which sat in the middle of the floor is burned and charred in spots on top, and in other places the cloth or wood is as good as ever; and yet with this proof of excessive heat, the inside of the building is without injury, except that the rear door, near the iron outside door, is badly charred.

The brick store of E. P. Fitzgerald & Co., near Clarney's, like the brick stores of Isaacs Bros., and Fleischman & Heyneman, proved worthless to resist the flames. A report was circulated last evening that powder had been stored in the building, and the explosion caused the destruction of the store. Mr. Maurice Fitzgerald assures us there was not a pound of powder in the store, the explosion came from a loaded pistol left in the rear room. This firm saved nothing.

To the eternal credit and honor of our people be it said, that no parleaming was practiced during or since the fire, as is most always the case in communities made up of every class as is this.

Honorable, beyond any precedent that we know of, under like circumstances, is the conduct of those among the merchants who have lost nothing in the fire, or who have saved much of their stocks. They have not made any increase in prices; they have acted most liberally and nobly towards the sufferers. Also have the proprietors of the two saw mills behaved most praiseworthy in the matter, in maintaining the past scale of prices, and not taking advantage of the general misfortune by increasing their prices with the very great demand.

Yesterday evening the best portion of our city was in ashes. But to show that the spirit of this indomitable, irrepressible community, are not to be subdued even by this almost crushing loss and terrible calamity, it is merely necessary for me to state that already, as we go to press, all over the burnt district, lumber for new buildings is to be seen, houses are rapidly going up, and the genuine "nil desperandum" determination of the brave-souled people is on every side admirably manifested.

There were many instances given yesterday of the nobleness and disinterestedness of our citizens, in extending aid, and in rushing to protect and save the property of those threatened and in danger; but we cannot give all, and it would be wrong to discriminate, where all behaved equally meritorious.

The list of sufferers and of losses, so far as we have been able to ascertain them, is as follows:

There are yet many losses which we cannot get approximate information of, but a careful merchant, who is well informed, estimates the total loss at over ONE MILLION OF DOLLARS.

The total number of buildings of all kinds destroyed is 410, of which 204 were dwellings and 236 buildings were stores, shops and business houses of various kinds.

The brick buildings of M. M Chipman, John Clarney, Lanor & Swinn, J. R. Wilkinson, L. M. Cohn, the old News office, and Powell & Coe, are the only ones saved in the burnt district. The Jenny Lind Theatre is the only frame building of a public character saved on Main street. There is not a hotel left in the city. Wells, Fargo & Co.'s, and the Post Office, were both burned, but both with small comparative loss. The safes generally have withstood the fire, and nearly all of the fire proof cellars.

STATE ITEMS.

Lieut. Peter P. Gates, late of the 1st Oregon Infantry, has been appointed a Lieutenant in the 5th Infantry, U. S. A.

W. P. Abrams of the Dalles has started East to obtain machinery for the new woolen factory to be erected in that town.

The Mountaineer says that Capt. Darrugh and Capt. McKay, with their commands of Scouts took up the line of march for their field of operations last Monday. Capt. Darrah goes to the Crooked river country for the present; Capt McKay, we understand is ordered to Fort Klamath.

A letter from W. W. Parker of Astoria informs us that on the 20th inst Capt. J. Kinchlow of the U. S. Coast Survey, and five of his men were drowned at the mouth of Tillamook Bay. Their boat got in the breakers on the South Spit and capsized. One man (James Steel) was saved. The names of those who were drowned (besides Capt. Kinchlow) were Charles West, S. Langan, Henry Ballou, Zachariah Steelcup and Silas Steelcup. Some of them leave families and all were residents of Tillamook.

The Corvallis Gazette says: Mr Preston, wife and little daughter, of this city, had a narrow escape from death, on Saturday last, under the following circumstances: While coming from their farm in a two-horse wagon, when nearly opposite the brewery, a shaggy, overgrown dog came furiously out from the establishment, which so frightened the horses as to cause them to rear back suddenly, breaking the wagon tongue, the part attached to the wagon striking the ground, elevated the bed and threw Mr P. out. The horses, by this time, being under full headway, the latter girl was next hurled to the ground, one of the wheels passing over her with great force. A little further on Mrs P was thrown violently against a fence, which, in some degree broke the force of the fall, but injured her very severely. Strange as it may seem, no bones were broken, but all three were badly bruised. Little Mary seems to be the most injured. Their escape from death, to those who witnessed the accident, seemed almost miraculous.

Twelve locomotives for the Pacific Railroad have been ordered to Schenectady, and one of them has just been forwarded.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 19, 1867.

The Supreme Court dismisses Gov. Sharkey and his "bill"

The Daily Oregonian.

MONDAY MORNING MAY 26, 1867.

Shown its Colors at Last

We had endeavored to take precautions against a surprise We had thought to be on our guard against any emotion of astonishment from the occurrence of an event that we knew was likely any day to happen But we give it up We confess we were beat—"circumwented" to use the phraseology of the Wellers—when on Saturday morning we discovered that the leading article in the Herald was the speech of a South Carolina negro, introduced with some commendatory editorial remarks Though we had been expecting a summerset of this kind, our astonishment was great Only the day before, that paper had contained a savage article against the negro, but it now appears that this was only a piece of sharp practice—a feint—to hide the intended movement Well, it has come at last A South Carolina negro gets a respectful hearing,—yes, even an editorial endorsement, in the Herald Like Wade Hampton and the rest of its political friends, that paper has evidently begun to "court the negro vote" It sends up this speech with its own endorsement, which, like boys' kites, serves to show which way the Democratic breeze is setting. Here is strategy for you! The Herald has been cunning And sly And wily. It denounced the negroes most vilely till the proper time came for changing the "immutable principles," when it abandoned the white man's party and sprang to the side of the Palmetto chivalry and of B. Nash Esq, colored citizen of South Carolina.

And what is in that speech that so impressed the editor of the Herald as to induce him to publish it with his endorsement? Mr. Nash the colored Democratic voter and orator and citizen of South Carolina, (the Herald now calls him a "colored man," and his race "colored people"—a while ago they were "disgusting niggers"), Mr Nash goes with all his might for the Democratic party Thinks that party the true friend of his race Wants to unite with it. Promises to support it. Demands that the rebels shall not be disfranchised Insists on having all their political disabilities removed immediately. And among other things proclaims that once anti Democratic doctrine, but now super excellent Democratic sentiment that "every man, whether ignorant or not, who is compelled to pay taxes, is entitled to vote" B Nash, Esq, colored voter, etc, who gets so respectful a hearing in the Herald, also expresses his gratitude that he is free He is thankful that his race "can stand before the world invested with a political equality with the white man" For all of which the Herald is likewise duly thankful;—else why has the speech of this intelligent colored Democratic voter a place in its editorial columns with an editorial endorsement?

The Herald has evidently received new light It favors negro suffrage—if the negroes will vote with its party. It sees negroes and whites associated together in South Carolina, and is not terrified with the prospect of "negro equality." Negro suffrage has no terrors if its Democratic friends can only secure the colored vote That is the question to be considered now. The Herald has set out to do its part. Fortunately we know where to find it now.

The Complaint about "Tyranny."

In a country which has set at liberty such offenders as Jefferson Davis and his accomplices, there are, singularly enough, many persons who profess to believe that the rights and privileges of individual citizens are in danger from the tyranny of majorities; that the liberties of those who choose to belong to minorities are in fearful jeopardy; that the majority has no respect whatever for the feelings and rights of their opponents, and that the country is driving on to despotism as fast as it can go. This is one view of things. But a good many people will be unable to see how that can be an unbearably despotic government which has released every man, from the highest to the lowest, who took part in a gigantic effort to destroy it, or how a majority can be so very tyrannous which has exacted nothing but freedom and equal rights, and which enjoins obedience only to equal laws which its own members must also obey. Much is said nowadays about the tyranny of majorities, and particularly of the majority which has controlled our country for six years past, but what sensible person on taking a view of the actual situation, can listen to such utterances without a smile of contempt for the authors?

The truth is, as every candid person knows, knows, that the liberties and rights of the individual are not at all in danger from such a cause. There is no disposition on the part of the dominant majority to oppress any man or party There is not the least reason to fear any danger to popular rights, for no party could stand for a moment which would seriously interfere with the rights and liberties of individuals or minorities, beyond what is necessary for the welfare of society. In a country where all power springs from the people, is it to be supposed that they will tolerate a despotism? Our armies are the people—how could a despotism be put in operation? Yet some people are in the habit of talking endlessly about a military despotism to be established on the ruins of popular liberty. They would probably find themselves unable to talk with so much volubility should they undertake to point out the way in which the project is to be accomplished.

We stated that Congress had made a large appropriation to feed the people of the South The wise man of the Albany Confederate State Rights Democrat, in the exuberance of his assininity, flatly denies the statement, and volunteers to his readers the information that "Senator Trumbull did, indeed, move such an appropriation, and it passed the Senate, but such men as Beast Butler, of the Radical party, killed it in the House" This assertion will do very well for the addled hard shells of the Forks of Santiam Its author may believe it, for he has not intelligence enough to know better. But every other journalist in the United States knows that a bill did pass both Houses of Congress, appropriating $1,000,000 to feed the whites of the South, that the President approved the bill, and that the relief intended is now being furnished The OREGONIAN, in common with all other newspapers in the country published the act some time ago Everybody knows these things except the whilom editor of the Pike County Democrat and his benighted two hundred subscribers in the "Forks" and on Long Tom

We rather like the spirit evinced by Horace Greeley in refusing to be catechised by the Union League of New York and held to answer to that body for his opinions The philosopher of the Tribune, though addicted to vagaries, probably has as much right to his whimseys as any one else has to his opinions, and the gentlemen of the Union League are quite absurd and not a little impertinent in claiming the right to dictate his course of action But when Greeley characterizes all who do not sanction his course as "narrow minded blockheads" he shows quite as much illiberality as was manifested by his would-be catechisers There are a good many persons who do not agree with Mr. Greeley, who never believe were not such blockheads as to be secessionists as he was in 1860–'61

The Confederate Democrat indignantly asks us if we "believe the people of the South are receiving their just deserts?" A short answer will suffice We do And it's a pity the Copperheads can't receive their just deserts too

REFINING WORKS,

No. 416 Montgomery Street,

(Successors to Kellogg, Hewston & Company)

CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000!

Directors:

JOHN PARROTT, WM C HAYWARD, LOUIS A. GARNETT. — SAM'L E. McLANE, A HAYWARD,

LOUIS A. GARNETT, President and Manager
JOHN HEWSTON, Jr. Chemist and Superintendent

THIS COMPANY HAVING GREATLY enlarged their Refining Works, and introduced many other important improvements, are pleased to announce that they feel warranted in again reducing materially their terms of doing business

THE TARIFF OF CHARGES

Which they now submit to the public—considered with reference to the cost of material and labor—is lower than in any other part of the world, and secures to the mining interest of this coast an important increase in both the minting and commercial value of bullion!

Their charges hereafter will be as follows:

FOR ASSAYING DEPOSITS FOR UNPARTED GOLD BARS.

One-eighth of one per cent (the smallest quarter) for all amounts over $1,000, and two dollars for any smaller sum Returns made in twenty-four hours

FOR ASSAYING DEPOSITS FOR UNPARTED SILVER BARS.

Two dollars for the gold contained, up to $1,000, and one-eighth of one per cent, for all amounts over that sum, and one per cent, on the silver contained Returns made in twenty-four hours

FOR REFINING DEPOSITS MADE FOR COIN OR FINE BARS

On bullion under 300 parts gold, 2 cents per ounce
On bullion from 300¼@600 parts gold, 4 cents per ounce
On bullion from 600¼@750 parts gold, 6 cents per ounce
On bullion from 750¼@949½ parts gold, 8 cents per ounce
Above 950 the only charge will be for coinage But there will be no charge for refining less than two dollars

FOR COINING GOLD

This charge will be the same as at the Mint—a half of one per cent.—and which is paid by us to that institution; But there will be no charge in future for making fine gold or silver bars from bullion refined by us

RETURNS IN COIN IN FORTY-EIGHT HOURS

Silver contained in deposits for coin will be accounted for at the same rate customary at the Mint

Gold bars of other Assayers, in good standing, will be cashed by us at the highest market rates

Dust and bullion can be forwarded to us from any part of the country, and returns made through Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express

CHARGES AT U S BRANCH MINT

For the convenience of those not familiar with the terms of the Mint we publish the tariff of charges now in force at that institution

For refining bullion under 300 parts gold, 2 cents per ounce

For refining bullion from 300¼@600 parts gold, 3 cents per ounce

For refining bullion from 600¼@750 parts gold, 7 cents per ounce

For refining bullion from 750¼@830 parts gold, 11 cents per ounce

For refining bullion from 830¼@949½ parts gold, 14 cents per ounce

The charge for coinage is half of one per cent, and the charge for making fine silver bars, the same

DEATH OF MAJOR HIRAM DRYER.—The Vancouver Register of the 25th, publishes an announcement of the death of Major Hiram Dryer, of the 23d U S Infantry, at Fort Randall, Dacotah Territory, March 5th Major Dryer was a near relative of Mr T J. Dryer, of this city, and some years ago was well known in this military district, having served at Fort Vancouver and other posts for several years, dating from 1853. He had an active part in the Indian war of 1855–6 The Register publishes, also, a lengthy obituary notice from the Detroit Free Press, from which we copy the following incident which will probably be remembered by many now living in Oregon and Washington Territory "Reports brought by scouts and Indians to Fort Steilacoom, in the winter of——, asserted that a large party of emigrants, among whom were many women and children, were imprisoned by snow in a canyon of the Cascade mountains, their stock and provisions nearly exhausted, their horses and mules dying of hunger and cold, with no prospect of relief, as it was doubtful whether, from the depth of snow on the mountains, the impassible condition of the ordinary roads, and the presence of numerous and hostile bands of Indians any expedition would be able to reach them in time, if at all. Still, humanity demanded that the attempt should be made, and at the first call of the post commander for a volunteer to lead the expedition, Major Dryer stepped forward At the head of twenty men, and a wagon loaded with supplies, he braved for fifteen days the peril and fatigue of the mountain road, swam angry rivers, beat off predatory bands, and reached the despairing party in time to succor and save. The last Hiram, resulting from toil and exposure, soon supervened, and laid the foundation of a disease that so lately cut short a noble life."

THE OFFICERS AND MEN OF THE "MONTANA."—The Herald of yesterday, had the subjoined item

The sailors on board the steamship Montana quit work yesterday and were refused their pay, as they agreed to return to San Francisco. They immediately libeled the ship for their pay The agent gave bonds for her appearance at the proper time

One of the crew, in behalf of his comrades, called on us last evening, asking us to publish a statement of the case. The article submitted contains language too grossly personal for publication; but we have no objection to saying that the substance of the mens' statement is that they had worked about twenty-one hours of every twenty-four, since the landing of the steamer on Wednesday, and that Friday evening being exhausted, they turned in. The next morning they offered to go to work as usual, but were driven ashore without pay, the officers using threats of violence This is substantially the statement of the case, but there may be a very different side to the story, for aught we know. There is nearly always more or less wrong on both sides in all such difficulties.

A GROUP PICTURE.—Mr. Joseph Buchtel, yesterday, took a very fine picture of the Turners of this city, number [illegible] over thirty, standing in front of Turn Verein Hall The artist secured a very fine negative and will finish up privately several copies. Afterward, at his room, he took a picture of the Committee of arrangements for the late Turner Fest, in a group. These pictures are large and perfect enough to show distinctly the features of every member of the group something which artists fly find very difficult to do. Mr. Buchtel is about to get out pictures of door pictures as can be seen by examining now on exhibition at his rooms.

TURNER BUND.—The Turn Vereins of this coast are organized Turner-Bund, a sort of Grand Turn Verein, corresponding in some manner to the Grand Lodge of Masonic Lodges. The Marysville Appeal says it is [illegible] 1 to include all the Turn-Vereins on this coast, although many of them have not joined it; but 21 members, of whom 90 are in San Francisco, 55 in Stockton, 41 in Sacramento, 31 in Portland, 28 in Marysville, and 18 in Gold Hill. The boys who are taking [illegible] the instructions number 165 in San Francisco and 40 in Sacramento. Branch Vereins were established last year in Yreka and Oakland.

MILITARY.—Major Francis has gone to Fort Colville to pay off the troops stationed there. The command at Camp Watson is preparing to make a campaign against the Indians in the vicinity of Harney Lake. The Mountaineer of the 25th says: "Gen. Elliott, Gen. C. [illegible] Winder and Capt. Hoyt, of U. S A., arrived at the Umatilla House on Monday evening en route for Fort Boise, for the purpose as we learn, of holding a Court of Inquiry in relation to Quartermaster affairs at that post. Major Gen. Glenn, Paymaster, U. S. A., left on Tuesday for Fort Boise to pay off the troops stationed there."

EXCURSIONS TO VANCOUVER.—The steamers Ranger and Senate Troup made excursions to Vancouver yesterday, leaving this city about half past ten, A. M., and reaching the wharf upon their return, at 6 P. M. The former asked [illegible] for the excursion at one dollar for the round trip, when the latter came in as opposition, carrying for fifty cents. The Fitness being the faster boat and having on board the 14th Infantry band, attracted a somewhat larger crowd than the other; but the Ranger had a very fair complement of passengers, and, we learn, all hands did themselves highly.

FOR SAN FRANCISCO.—The Montana sailed [illegible] at 10 o'clock Saturday evening, with the [illegible] list of passengers: Putnam Smith, wife and [illegible] John Cuddy, A G Smith, M G Ritchie, John Mosand wife, W P Abrams, D Casey, J W Chapline, [illegible] Hackney, E Johnson, D Beedy, S Bloom, J [illegible] M Irwin, Peter Daley, Geo W Blottenberger and wife, Miss M M Blottenberger, Dr H Hatch, A Sonnichsen, Van Ness (W, F & M's messenger), and 34 in the steerage.

FOR VICTORIA AND STIKA.—The Midcliffer sailed [illegible] evening for Victoria and Sitka, taking the [illegible] freight: 8 pkgs mdse, 2 half bbls dried peaches, [illegible] stoves, 9 cases furniture, 10 boxes candles, 5 boxes [illegible], 1,200 qrs ale, 500 do cases bacon, 15 half bbls dried Apples, 433 sks wheat, 1 plow, 2 pkgs honey, 1 hamper, 3 cases lard, 11 half bbls butter, 1 bale wrapping paper, 10 boxes soap, 1 sk salt, 6 sks beans, 3 coops [illegible].

BIDS OPENED.—The bids for building a new school house at block 36, in Couch's Addition, were opened on Saturday, and found to be as follows: W. H. Breckett, $13,—; W. E. Albern $12,700; E. J. Ryan, $12,220; Carson & Porter, $11,950, A. Collard, $11,300; J. H. Bacon, $11,200; Nicoll & Eberhart, $11,095; Goodenough & Cook, $10,500. The latter bid being the lowest, and the bonds being entirely responsible, will probably be accepted.

CARPET BROOM.—Messrs. Bolter Bros., left at the office of the other day, a specimen of their extra carpet broom, which is certainly superior to anything of the kind we have ever seen imported here. The Bolters are manufacturing largely of several grades of brooms, all of which are made upon honor and of the best material to be had, [illegible] on the coast. Housekeepers who have used brooms, speak in the highest terms of their durability.

FROM SAN FRANCISCO.—The following is a list of the Wasp's freight for San Francisco. 1,400 sks wheat, 372 pkgs barley, 372 pkgs bacon and hams, 90 pkgs [illegible], 10 hhs apples, 54 kegs lard, 81 kegs dried apples, [illegible] sks flour, 10 bdls skins, 10 pkgs furs, 253 hides, 18 pkgs sage, 5 coops chickens, 8 rolls leather, 86 bales wool, 23 pkgs mdse.

BY REVENUE.—A Chinaman on Front street was [illegible] through a window, Friday night, by some one on the outside The police officers who have been investigating the matter believe it to have been the act of some [illegible], and that the approaching marriage of the intended victim with Mary, the principal witness in a murder trial last fall, was the instigating cause.

REVENUE CUTTER.—The Collector of Customs at Astoria has received notice that the Revenue Cutter Joe Lane, stationed to the Columbia river where she is to be put to active service. The telegraphic news of some days since announced the sailing of the Shubrick for the Columbia river. There was probably a blunder in the name by the reporter at San Francisco

TREASURE SHIPMENT.—The following sums of treasure were shipped Saturday, the 25th, for San Francisco:

Wells, Fargo & Co..... .....$45,000
Goldsmith Bros 4,000
Total..... ....$49,000

THE ASTORIA LOT DISTRIBUTION.—The distribution of town lots at Astoria is said to have given perfect satisfaction to all concerned. [illegible] Every share-holder did not draw the highest prize; but every one is satisfied that he had an equal chance with all the others. It is said that many lots will improve their lots this season.

NEWS FROM SALEM.—The telegram announcing the escape of a prisoner, which we last week stated, was received by Sheriff Stiles from Salem, came from Olympia. No escape from the penitentiary at Salem, has occurred lately. We got our information from a police officer, but it was incorrect.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTH DAY BALL.—Some of the excursionists from Vancouver yesterday, procured a hall and went to dancing. The gay and festive party were, however, as [illegible] disturbed by the appearance on the scene of an officer who put an end to the festivities and shut up the hall

STEAMER FREIGHTS.—Arrived per Senator, from Oregon City, Saturday, May 25th: 600 bags wheat, 2 coops [illegible], 2 boxes eggs, 62 cases bacon, 46 gunnies do, [illegible] sks flour, 4 hf bbls, 2 pkgs bedsteads, 31 boxes [illegible], 1 box and a lot of household furniture

APPOINTMENT TO THE REGULAR ARMY.—P P Gates, formerly 2d Lt. of Co , "E," 1st Oregon Infantry, has received an appointment as 2d Lt. in the 6th U S. Infantry, and is under orders to appear before a military Board [illegible] at San Francisco

TOWN IMPROVEMENTS.—Marshal Hoyt will sell at the Court House, at 10 o'clock A. M , to-day, certain [illegible] fronting on B street, which is delinquent for street assessments. Property owners interested will do well to take notice

SALE RETAIN SALE.—At the auction sale on Saturday last A. B. Richardson's house and lot in block 183, between Main and Mill and Sixth and Seventh streets, was purchased by Mr. E. Martin for $900

LECTURE AT THE SYNAGOGUE.—Dr. Schwab lectured at the Synagogue yesterday for the benefit of the Southern Relief Fund. He had a very good audience, and we hear that a [illegible] sum was realized.

LIGHT HOUSE INSPECTOR.—The Light House Inspector for the Northern Pacific district, is ordered to make his quarters at the Columbia river, probably at Astoria.

SUPREME COURT LAWS. We learn by telegraph from San Francisco that the Live Yankee was cleared for this port on the 25th, and probably sailed this following day.

TREASURE RECEIPTS.—On Saturday, Wells Fargo & Co received from the upper country, $21,000 in treasure

U. S. DISTRICT COURT.—This court will convene again this morning after a recess of several days

RECORDER'S COURT.—There will be one case of drunk to dispose of this morning.

HONORABLE.—The merchants of Idaho who lost nothing by the fire, have not made any increase in prices, they have acted as liberally as Barnum Bros., clothiers, on corner Front and Morrison streets, formerly City of Paris store, in selling goods in their line at prices to suit the hard times. It is their determination to be the safeguard against high prices of custom made clothing, at Portland and Salem

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.—From and after this day the well known FERRON LEBEAUTE RESTAURANT will serve a first-class table at the reduced price of Seven Dollars per week.

"IN CITY OR COUNTRY," in town or hamlet, the FAMILY DYE COLORS are equally popular Shorekeepers say it is no use to have any but the Howe & Stevens stamp, for the people know no others, and believe in none. They are equally the best, the most reliable and the cheapest. Smith & Davis, agents.

Consumption like the Rattle Snake, always gives warning of its approach. A hacking cough, dull pain in the chest, difficulty of breathing, are the indications that there is more or less irritation of the lungs. If this be neglected, and go on until pustules are formed, followed by Tubercles, which sometimes eat off the blood vessels, death will be the result. Allen's Lung Balsam will heal the irritated parts, allay the inflammation, removing the phlegm and matter, thus stopping the cough, and preventing fatal consumption. PERRY DAVIS' VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER, after a thorough trial, by innumerable living witnesses, has proved itself THE MEDICINE OF THE AGE. Although there have been many medicinal preparations brought before the public since the first introduction of Perry Davis' Vegetable Pain Killer, and large amounts expended in their introduction, the Pain Killer has continued to steadily advance in the estimation of the world as the best Family Medicine ever introduced. It is an internal and external remedy. One positive proof of its efficacy is, that the sales have constantly increased, and wholly upon its own merits. The effect of the Pain Killer upon the patient, when taken internally in case of Cold, Cough, Bowel Complaints, Cholera, Dysentery, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in removing pain, as an external remedy in case of Burns, Bruises, Sores, Sprains, Cuts, Sting of Insects, and other causes of suffering, has secured for it such a host of testimony, as an almost infallible remedy, that it will be handed down to posterity as one of the greatest medical discoveries of the nineteenth century.

PIONEER WASHER.
JAMES BRUSIE,
AGENT FOR OREGON AND WASHINGTON TERRITORY,
THIS CELEBRATED WASHING MACHINE IS now for the first time introduced to the Oregon public. It is unrivalled for its simplicity, durability and the rapidity and ease of its action. Washing the dirtiest clothes perfectly clean in from five to ten minutes, with but slight labor, and lasting with proper care, for ten years. The wear and tear of clothing in washing by this machine is vastly less than by any other known process of washing. It is easily worked by one person.
This Machine captured the Special Premium at the California State Fair, and all that have used it pronounce it an invaluable adjunct to all housekeepers and families and washing men and washing women.
It has been extensively introduced throughout the State of California, and receives the universal commendation of all who have used it.
The undersigned is now in the city of Portland, where he can be seen at Mr. G. Kilbourn's Store, corner of Front and Yamhill Sts., East side, Portland, and is prepared to furnish the Machine to purchasers and also to sell and dispose of County Rights for the sale of the same.

A Serenade.

I sing beneath your lattice, love
A song of great regard for you;
The moon is getting rather high—
My voice is, too

The lake is in deep shadow like
Where frogs make such hullaballo;
I think they sing a trifle hoarse,
And, love, me, too.

The blossoms on the pumpkin vine
Are weeping diamond tears of dew;
'Tis warm, the flowers are wilting fast;
My flame, too

All motionless the cedars stand,
With silent moonbeams slanting through.
The very air is drowsy, love,
And I am, too

O could I soar on loving wings,
And at your window gently woo!
But then your lattice you would bolt,
So I'll bolt, too

And now I've done my serenade,
Farewell! my best regards to you,
I'll close with one (French) word for all,
And that is tout.

The Wagon Road from Lewiston to Hell Gate.

It will be remembered that about a year ago Dr. Bird of Iowa, charged with the duty of selecting a route for a wagon road between the points above named, passed through this place to engage in the work. The following letter from him relates the denouement of the enterprise:

MT. PLEASANT, IOWA, March 20, 1867.

DR. M. A. KELLY, Lewiston, I. T.—Dear Sir:—I received the Lewiston paper you were kind enough to send me to-day, and also received a letter from Major Truax, a few days ago, which was the first intelligence I have had from Lewiston since I left last year. The Major says he wrote to me before but his letter did not reach me.

I very much regret on account of the interests of the Montana Wagon Road that the arrangement I made for the prosecution of the work this spring, has not met the approbation of the Department at Washington,—and now I cannot tell why it has not done so. I notified the Secretary of the Interior immediately on my return, that I had appointed Major Truax my manager to prosecute the work. Sent copies of the bonds he gave me, with the instructions I left with, and distinctly stated that I done so as a matter of prudence and economy—and that it was not expected that my salary would continue after I had submitted my report. I have not a doubt, but that if I had remained in Idaho and kept my engineers under pay as well as myself until spring opened, and then expended what money there was left before I returned home, all would have been right with the Department. This, you see, is according to the routine of business there—but you see also, there would not have been but little money left, and now there will be fully seven thousand dollars after all expenses are paid with no further draw on the funds until work commences again, and which if expended under the judicious and intelligent management of Mr. Truax, would make a very respectable showing on the road, in connection with what has already been done.

Doctor, my business at home has suffered serious loss by my absence, and I was earnestly desirous to return, because the arrangement I made seemed so reasonable and judicious every way, that it never occurred to me as possible, that the Department at Washington would think otherwise. If I had, I would certainly have remained.

Major Truax will show you the copies of letters and a report I forwarded to him a few days ago. I think you had all better join at Lewiston in a petition to the Secretary of the Interior to have him appoint Major Truax to finish the work or rather finish the expenditure of what money remains the coming summer. Every dollar of money left in his hands will be worth two in the hands of a stranger who knows nothing about the work to be done. I will back up your petition with all the influence I can bring to bear on the matter.

You will see I have made a rough estimate of the probable cost of completing the wagon road on the route I have surveyed, and have recommended an appropriation by Congress of the necessary amount of money. I see also your Legislature have asked Congress to appropriate one hundred thousand dollars for this purpose. If this thing is followed up it can be obtained I verily believe; and it will afford me sincere pleasure to lend any effort or assistance I can give to secure it. I am glad to see that things are looking up at Lewiston. You seem to be one of the very few men I met in Lewiston who had faith enough in the place to invest anything in it. I do believe you are acting wisely, and with a little patience and perseverance you will in a few years be rewarded for the faith and hope there is in you. I suppose there are not many, if any, who believe that Lewiston will yet be the largest town on the Columbia river, above Portland—but do you know, I really think there have much more unlikely things come to pass, than that this should prove to be no idle dream—indeed I will say I do believe it, and if I lived at Lewiston I should work in this faith. An appropriation of one hundred thousand dollars, with Major Truax, or as good a man as he is, as disbursing agent, will make an available wagon road to Hell Gate. This with the mining interests, yet to be developed in the Salmon river and Clearwater mountains, must make Lewiston a fine commercial point, it being situated as it is at the head of steamboat navigation on the Columbia river.

Capt. Felton who ran a boat from Wallula to Lewiston last summer, went with me from San Francisco to New York last fall. We were detained at Greytown, on the Isthmus, for two weeks, and soon after leaving there he was taken sick with what appeared to be intermittent fever. He continued to have it until we arrived in New York, where I left him, and since then I learned that he died in four or five days afterward—he was a real good fellow. When I left him I did not think it probable he would die, or I would have stayed with him a few days at least—but as he was up and about the time we left the Isthmus he seemed as healthy and vigorous a man as was on board.

I instructed Major Truax to show you and here introduce the papers I sent him, and he will forward them. Please give my regards to Messrs. Hackney Brothers, to Mr. Hurley and others at Lewiston, and believe me, my dear Sir,

Your friend and obedient servant,
M. BIRD.

LIFE ON THE PLAINS—INTERESTING REMINISCENCES OF KIT CARSON.—A correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial has had an interview with Kit Carson, who communicated to him the following reminiscences:

All the Indians, hunters and trappers ride with short stirrups. I am almost bow-legged from it. It is more important to the Indian than to the white man, as it is only by means of the stirrup that he can ship his position, hanging down on one side so as to conceal all his body but his leg. His leg is all you have to fire at, as he throws himself on the side, buttox, or around the neck of his horse. On this account, also, they hang the stirrup well forward.

Some one referred to Carson's intimate knowledge of Indian strategy. "Why, yes, I am up to a good many of their tricks; but they fooled me once—they fooled me pretty bad that time. I'll tell you about it. It was in—let me see—yes, 1835. There were six of us hunters out after buffalo, up in the Snake country. We had made a pretty good hunt, and came into camp at night, intending to start in next morning with our hunt. Well, we camped; had a good many dogs with us, some of them good dogs. They had barked a good deal, and we heard wolves. As I lay by the fire I saw one or two wolves sneaking about camp—one of them quite in it. Gordon wanted to fire, but I wouldn't let him, for fear of hitting some of the dogs.

I had just a little suspicion that the wolves might be Indians, but when I saw them turn short round, and heard the snap of their teeth when the dogs came too close to one of 'em, I felt easy then, and felt sure it was a wolf. The Indian fooled me that time. Confound the rascal! (becoming animated) confound the rascal, do you think he didn't have two old buffalo bones in his hand that he cracked together every time he turned to snap at the dogs? Well, by and by we dozed off asleep, and it wasn't long before I was awakened by a crash and a blaze. I jumped straight for the mules and held 'em. If the Indians had been smart they'd a had us all, but they run as soon as they fired. They killed but one of us—poor Davis. He had five bullets in his body and eight in his buffalo robe. The Indians were a band of Sioux, on the war path after the Snakes, and came on us by accident. They tried to waylay us next morning, but we killed three of 'em next morning, including their chief.

When I first went over into California, in 1829, the valleys were full of Indian tribes. Indians were thick everywhere, and I saw a great deal of some large and flourishing tribes. When I saw them again, in 1849, they had all disappeared, and when I enquired about certain tribes I had seen on the spot, was told by the people living there that they had never heard of them.

GOOD FOR JESSIE.—The wife of General Fremont is credited with having been the means of obtaining a vessel from the Government to carry supplies to the South from New York, and also with having prominently aided to inspire the action of the Senate in voting an appropriation.

Miscellaneous Items.

The Hon. Michael Przybylowizo, of the Kansas Legislature, has had his name changed to Murphy. Murphy is the Irish of Przybylowizo

The first story of the Hotel Bristol, Place Vendome, has been taken during the Exhibition for the King and Queen of Portugal, at the rate of $60 a day.

The Queen of Madagascar has issued an edict forbidding civilians to wear hats and brims. The streets are consequently strewn with the torn off fragments.

There is so great an emigration from Italy to South America that Government proposes to take some measures to restrain the exodus of arms-bearing citizens.

An egg, placed in a vessel of cold water, which was made to revolve two hundred and thirty-two times per minute, was boiled in six minutes, the only heat being from friction of the fluid.

Robert Bonner, of Ledger fame, is about to build a splendid marble building at the corner of William and Spruce streets, New York. Ten years ago Bonner had to borrow money to pay his advertising.

One hundred and ninety-one barbers in Boston and eighty-five in neighboring towns, have petitioned the Legislature to pass a law compelling the closing of barber shops throughout the State on Sunday.

During a severe gale on the British coast a steamship lost one of her paddle-wheels, and in order to make the other work, the stock of coal running short, four hundred pigs were burned to keep up the fires.

Miss Elker, of Hamilton county, Indiana, after several days of horrible suffering from hydrophobia, gradually became more tranquil under the "bromide of potassium" treatment of her physicians, and is now reported to be convalescent.

Ex-Governor Joseph A. Gilmore, of New Hampshire, died at Concord on the 17th ult. after a lingering and painful illness, aged 55 years. He was President of the New Hampshire Senate in 1850, and Governor of the State during 1863 and 1864.

A St. John paper calls attention to the fact, that by cutting the Bay Verte Canal, (not very arduous or costly undertaking) the passage between New Brunswick and Canada would be shortened about 400 miles, saving the circumnavigation of the whole coast of Nova Scotia.

A member of the Philadelphia Select Council lately offered a resolution instructing the Commissioners on City Property to "have a fountain in each square, surrounded with a lake, covering a half acre or more, being eight or ten inches in depth, which would form an area for such natant exercises as boys would delight in."

The body of the second King of Siam, who died about a year ago, was recently burned with great pomp and ceremony in the presence of some sixty thousand persons who had flocked to witness the incremation from all parts of the country. The late monarch was very well educated, intelligent, and a good English scholar, though entirely self-taught.

Gen. John Pope intends to make Atlanta, Ga., his headquarters for the summer. A Southern newspaper describes him as a man of "intelligence, refinement and cultivation; apparently 45 years old," and "weighing from 160 to 170 pounds," who expresses "surprise at the short-sightedness of the South in not seeking to conciliate Congress."

A correspondent tells the following story of one of the farmers in the vicinity of Culpepper, whose possessions lay in a district where both armies foraged. The old chap one day, while surveying ruefully the streaks in the soil where his fence once stood, remarked with much feeling, "I haint took no sides in this here rebellion, but I'll be doggoned if sides haint took me!"

A good story is told of an old gentleman who went into Trinity Church, Boston, lately, while the Rev. Mr. Gallaudet was repeating the service to deaf mutes, by signs, etc. After watching the proceedings for a few moments, he arose from his seat, took his hat and started for the door, and, as he passed out, shook his head reproachfully at the sexton and muttered, "I can't stand them ritual tantrums, no how."

The treasury of Louisiana is so depleted that money could not be raised to repair the damaged levees. In this emergency George Jones, President of the Canal Bank, in New Orleans, generously agreed to advance the State $30,000 in exchange for State bonds, provided the military authorities recognised the transaction as legitimate. General Sheridan gave a ready and cordial sanction to the exchange, and the authorities were thereby enabled to send five hundred men to the threatened region of the old Sauve crevasses.

A striking example of the evils of the law of entail is given in the English journals. The Fifth Earl Rivers died in March at the age of seventeen. His father, the Fourth Earl, who died last year, knowing that the son was not likely to live, would have cut off the entail for the sake of his daughters; but the son, not being of age, could legally neither give his consent to this being done nor do it himself after his father's death. So, by the operation of the law or primogeniture, the father, with a magnificent estate, could make no provision for his daughters and the son no provision for his sisters. The property passes to an uncle of the late nobleman.

Travel in the United States.

Travel in the United States is at present less agreeable than in Europe. All the country west of the Alleghanies, and a great deal along the lines of the Eastern roads, has not yet grown out of its early stage of development. Nature is in the transition period, shorn of the lonely grace of the wilderness, and not yet clothed in the complete robes of cultivation. Nature, in this phase, looks shabby and unattractive. The stumps of fresh clearings, the undrained roughness of swamps, the spindling trees left here and there as forlorn monuments of the original forests, and the first laborious evidences of man's occupation, are all unsightly features. One may travel a thousand miles without escaping from them. Outside of the nooks of old settlements we have finished landscapes.

West of the Missouri river, where the surface of the earth rises into beautiful undulations, and trees are only seen along the river bottoms, this ragged, shabby character of the landscape disappears. The fields have the smoothness of a long settled country; the trees grow up, taking their perfect characteristic forms; and the young forests which issue from the earth wherever it is safe from the fire will rise in walls and mounds of exuberant foliage, instead of the naked seal-folding of trunks and boughs which appear where a wooded country has been cleared. This part of the republic will present, in thirty or forty years, the finished beauty which other parts will scarcely offer in a hundred years.

Most of our inland cities and towns have as yet only a material interest; they are simply so many evidences of growth. They have neither history, monuments, nor individual peculiarities. The smaller towns look as if one individual had built them all on contract, at the same time. The age of a place may instantly be determined by a glance at its dwelling houses.

The Grecian portico indicates 30, the (so-called) Swiss cottage, of clapboards, 20, the square block, with square box on top, 15; the bracketed, towered, irregular mansion, 10, the mansard-roof today. These towns intimate and intensify the monotony of the landscape around them. It would be difficult to find more uninteresting lines of travel than from Buffalo to Chicago, from Pittsburg to St. Louis, or from Cincinnati to Detroit. Yet those who are familiar with the railroads of Belgium know how charming those dead Flemish levels have become, through varied cultivation and the changing habits of centuries

Much of our scenery is thus waiting until its natural tameness, or the offensive features of its transition state shall be remedied by time. Over great tracts of territory we have not been greatly favored in regard to scenery. Except the White Mountain group, the Adirondacks and the Catskills, we have few picturesque mountain regions this side of Colorado. The Alleghany range is singularly devoid of sublimity, its long uniform walls wear the eye. In the Southern States, when you have named Shenandoah Valley, East Tennessee, and the mountain region of North Carolina, you have almost exhausted the catalogue of fine scenery. The Mississippi—except its upper course—and the Missouri are the tamest of rivers

But the scenery of the western half of the republic fully makes up for the deficiencies of the eastern. From the meridian line where the peaks of the Rocky Mountain first rise above the horizon of the plains, to the shore of the Pacific, there is no region without its beauties and its wonders. The States and Territories within its limit have a character of landscape wholly their own They are not mere repetitions of the old lands, suggesting to us the magic of a past which our people can really never possess. The world wide landscapes of the mountain parks, the lakes of Utah, the mile-deep canyons of the Colorado river, the Yosemite Valley, and the mountain pyramids of Oregon, are unlike any other scenery in the world They combine the highest elements of beauty and sublimity in new forms. Within ten years, much of the stream of travel which now sets across the ocean will be turned westward, and all these sources of enjoyment, of aspiration, of native growth and development, will be open to us. We shall then have some compensation for the privations and inconveniencies of our methods of travel.—Atlantic Monthly.

Partial Confession by Surratt.

Among the evidence taken by the House Judiciary Committee relative to the arrest of John H. Surratt, as we learn by a despatch to the Herald, is a statement by Dr. L. L. McMillan, surgeon on the steamer Peruvian, plying between Montreal and Liverpool From this statement it appears that in September, 1865, Surratt took passage on the Peruvian for Europe, and became intimate with McMillan, confessing who he was. He also confessed that—

"He had been from the beginning in the Confederate service, carrying despatches between Washington and Richmond, and also as far as Montreal That he and Booth had planned at first the abduction of President Lincoln, that, however, they could not succeed in that way, and they then thought it was necessary to change their plan. After this, and before the assassination, Surratt was in Montreal when he received a letter from Booth, ordering him to Washington—that it was necessary to act and promptly, and he (Surratt) was to leave Montreal immediately for Washington He did not tell me he came to Washington, but he said he came as far as Elmira, New York, and from that place telegraphed to the city of New York to find out whether Booth had already left for Washington, and was answered that he had. He did not tell me whether he had gone any further than Elmira. The next place he spoke to me of was St. Albans, Vermont, where, he said, he arrived in the morning about breakfast time, and went to a hotel there for breakfast While he was sitting there he heard several talking about an assassination, and he inquired, 'What was up?' They asked him if he did not know President Lincoln had been assassinated. He replied that he did not believe it, because the story was too good to be true. On that a gentleman pulled out a newspaper and handed it to him. He opened it and saw his own name as one of the assassins. He said that this unnerved him so much that the paper fell out of his hands, and he immediately left the room and walked out. As he was going out through the hotel he heard another party say that Surratt must have been or was at the time in St. Albans, because such a person (mentioning the person's name,) had found a pocket handkerchief on the street with Surratt's name on it. He told me he actually looked in his pocket and found he had lost his pocket handkerchief. From that place he went to Canada and was concealed there from April to September."

During the passage, Surratt avowed his intention of returning to the United States and assassinating President Johnson for enlisting his mother to be hung. Dr. McMillan, on arriving in Liverpool, made affidavit to the above facts before the United States Consul, and it was on the strength of these revelations that Surratt was pursued and captured.

PRESENT CONDITION OF THE SLAVE TRADE.—The committee of the British and Foreign Anti-Slavery Society have addressed Lord Stanley, the Secretary of Foreign Affairs, setting forth the present state of the African slave trade. The officers of the cruising squadron report an almost cessation from the west coast of Africa and from Congo; owing, it is believed, to the vigorous efforts of General Dulce, the late Governor General of Cuba, to break up the trade on the island. The new Governor-General is represented to be favorable to the slave trade, and already several cargoes have been landed on the island, numbering at least 6,000 slaves. The committee deplore the increase of the slave traffic from the Portugese possessions on the east coast. The greater number of the captives would appear to be carried off to the Comoro Islands and some parts of Madagascar, to Zanzibar and other convenient resorts, to be thence transferred, after sale, to ports in the Red Sea, whence many find their way into Nubia and Upper Egypt, and also into Arabia.
